Call to Action: Send Message, where available.

Creative Design: A cashew product photograph with a natural beige background, brown typography and the Nutri Crunch brand name.

Purpose: Attract potential customers and encourage them to inquire about the product through Messenger.

Campaign Setup

The proposed campaign will use a messaging-focused objective to generate customer inquiries. The campaign settings will be documented in Meta Ads Manager.

- Campaign objective: Generate customer inquiries through messaging.
- Conversion location: Messaging apps, if supported by the selected campaign setup.
- Ad placements: Facebook Feed, Instagram Feed, Stories and Reels.
- Bidding strategy: Highest volume, if available for the selected objective.
- Campaign status: Practice proposal; no live advertising spend.

Analytics and Reporting

Campaign performance would be evaluated using the following key performance indicators (KPIs):

- Reach: Number of unique people who see the advertisement.
- Impressions: Total number of times the advertisement is displayed.
- Click-through rate (CTR): Percentage of impressions that result in clicks.
- Cost per click (CPC): Average cost for each click.

- Messaging conversations: Number of conversations initiated through the ad.
- Cost per conversation: Average advertising cost per conversation.

No actual performance results are available because the campaign has not been run live.

Optimization and Recommendations

1. Test different ad images and headlines to compare audience responses.
2. Review CTR and messaging conversations when real data becomes available.
3. Improve the ad copy and call-to-action based on observed results.
4. Compare performance across placements and locations.
5. Adjust the budget only after identifying better-performing ads from actual campaign data.

These are proposed optimization actions; no live optimization has been performed.

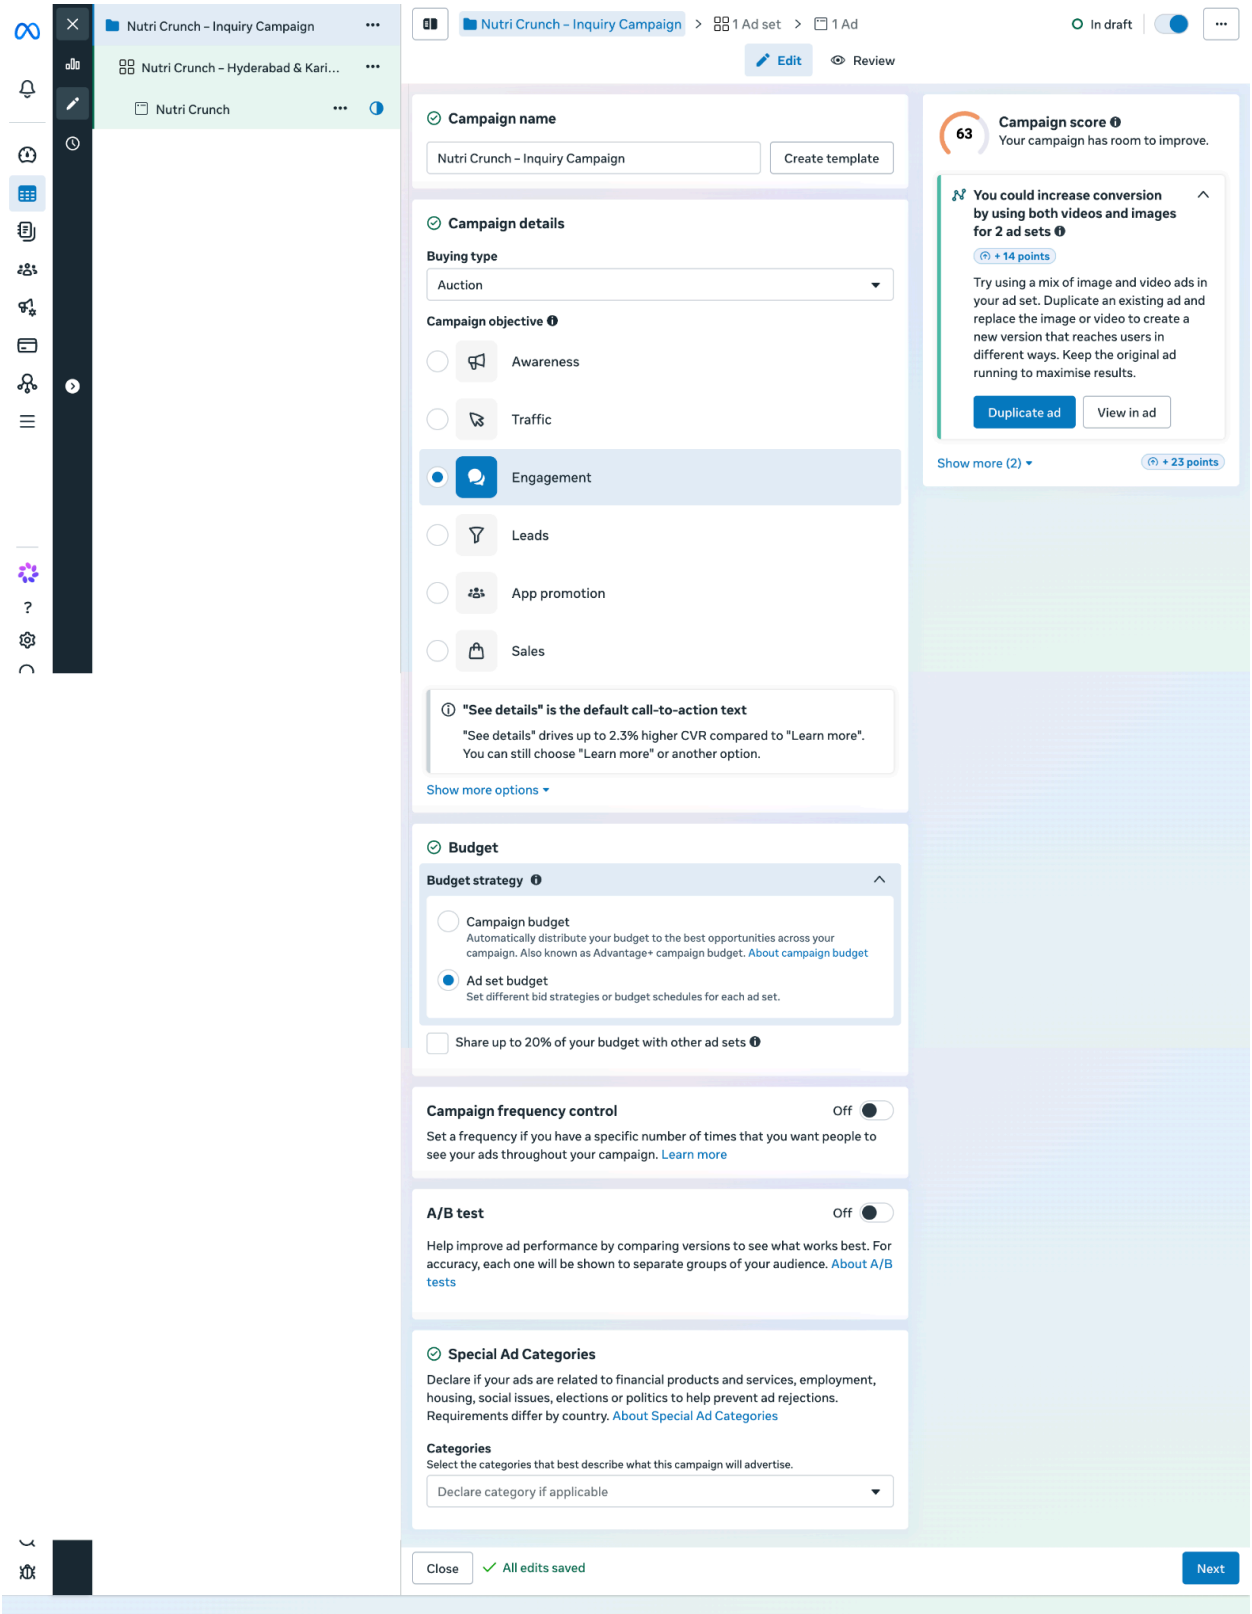

Lessons Learned

This practice project helped me understand campaign planning, audience targeting, budget allocation, ad creative development and KPI selection. I learned that a clear campaign objective and relevant creative are important when designing a Facebook Ads campaign.

Since no live campaign data is available, actual performance cannot be evaluated. In a future campaign, I would use real results to test creatives, improve targeting and make data-driven decisions.
